Redefining Electric Fireplaces

Table of Contents

True Story:

European Home has a showroom with gas, wood and electric fireplaces. We were installing new models and had a plumber changing out gas lines. He disconnected the lines but was perplexed when he noticed two models were still burning. He asked about why that was and we explained that those were the electric models.

The flame effects were so realistic they fooled the plumber!

All Compton Models

- An LED flame animation projected onto a mirrored background.
- There are lights projected down from the top of the unit to further illuminate the logs.
- The bed is made of chrome with vermiculite glued to it. This surface reflects the flickering lights to give the illusion that it is coming from under the logs.
- Compton and E Series models can connect to your device through Bluetooth.
- Each unit has a heater with adjustable thermostate.

All E Series and Halo Models

UltraHD has all of the features of Evoflame Technology plus:

- Models have an anti-reflective glass front.
- Along the front is a flickering light that is projected across the logs.
- This surface is 70% less reflective and gives the illusion that there is no front glass.

- A multicolored LED flame animation projected onto a mirrored background.
- The bed is clear with multicolored LED lights projected from underneath.
- On top of the bed is a decorative mixture of clear glass crystals, orange crystals and black vermiculite.
- A small amount of vermiculite is also sprinkled across the front.
- Can connect to your device through Wifi.
