About Electric Modern

After becoming an industry leader in the world of modern gas fireplaces, owner Holly Markham has expanded her reach into the field of electrics. By doing so, we have positioned ourselves to stay at the cutting edge of contemporary fireplace design and continue to offer our customers the most innovative hearth products available today.

Electric Modern utilizes the newest technology known as Evoflame, using LED's to display beautiful and realistic flames, without the need for gas lines, wood, fuel, or venting. Our fireplaces are zero emission, heat your home, and add a touch of contemporary style to any space.

“ Technology and design have been chasing the natural flame for decades.
We have never come this close. ”
